Tree Island Sand Dunes (aka Sandy Island) Marine Park

Saturday, May 14th; Car Pool departs 1:30 pm. Car Pool maps will be available.

Sunday, May 15th; Car Pool departs at 8:00 am

Cost is $20 per person or $25 per person after March 15th

Maximum number of participants is 12 per day

This trip requires a Separate signed Waiver. Waivers will be available at the Filberg Centre. Sorry, this trip is not Wheel Chair Accessible

Jáji7em and Kw'ulh Marine Park [a.k.a. Sandy Island or Tree Island Marine Park] includes Sandy Island - known locally as Tree Island - and the nearby Seal Islets. The park is located off the northern tip of Denman Island and is accessible by boat from Union Bay on Vancouver Island or by foot from Denman Island at low tide.

Photo by Krista Kaptein

This park has long been popular with Comox Valley residents, and is becoming a draw for visitors as well. Sandy Island offers good opportunities for bird watching and nature appreciation, as well as sandy beaches perfect for sunbathing and swimming.

Sandy Island is a sensitive ecosystem with coastal sand dunes featuring rare and fragile plants and animals. Numerous species of birds make their home on the islands and observing these can provide endless hours of enjoyment for photographers and nature lovers.

Provincial Web Site http://www.env.gov.bc.ca/bcparks/explore/parkpgs/sandy is/

Island Nature Web Site http://islandnature.ca/2010/06/sandy-island-marine-provincial-park/