

Val Schaefer

Val is the Academic Administrator of the Restoration of Natural Systems Program at the University of Victoria. He previously taught Ecology and other Biology courses at Douglas College for 27 years and was a founder of the Institute of Urban Ecology. Val is senior author of Urban Biodiversity: Exploring Natural Habitat and its Value in Cities, is the editor of four books on natural history in Metro Vancouver, and has written chapters on biodiversity in four other books. . Val has received the BC Minister of the Environment's Award for Environmental Education, the BC Society of Landscape Architects' Award for Community Service and the Vancouver Natural History Society's Davidson Award for conservation and Garibaldi Award for outstanding service. His B.Sc. is from McGill University, M.Sc. from the University of Toronto and Ph.D. from Simon Fraser University. Val is the past Chair of the Garry Oak Ecosystem Recovery Team Society.