

Steven Price

Steven Price is President of Bird Studies Canada, which is part of the global BirdLife network. Before BSC, Steven worked for 33 years with WWF-Canada, where he served as the International Program Director, and was the founding director of WWF Canada's conservation science and practice team.

His focus has been on Canadian endangered species, tropical forests, forest management certification and conservation science.

Steven will be giving the keynote speech at the Annual General Meeting on Saturday morning in the Filberg Centre. His topic, "International Bird Conservation-Priorities for Canadians" is in keeping with the theme of the Conference "100 Years of Canadian Conservation"

Steven lives in Toronto, where he is never happier than looking at his feeder with chickadees.
